In order to socialize with other dogs, the following additional conditions must be met:

- Dogs must be neutered, unless otherwise arranged.
- Annual Renewal of this form & updated contact info.

The above health requirements protect your dog by reducing the risk of communicable illness or parasites when dogs interact or are simply near other dogs, such as when boarding or in daycare. To further insulate against these risks, we ask that dogs entering our facility limit their exposure to other dogs when possible by avoiding dog parks, alternating between other daycare or boarding facilities, attending training/puppy classes with other dogs, adopting a new dog, etc. Please inform our staff if your dog will be participating in any of those activities, as we may need to assess their exposure risks and limit their attendance here for a period of time following this.

We try very hard to work with our clients and patients, but we have a NO tolerance policy when it comes to aggressive or problematic behavior in any dog. This includes, but is not limited to: growling, excessive barking, lunging towards other dogs or staff, and biting. At the discretion of staff members, if a dog exhibits any of these or other problem behaviors that prevent them from getting along with ALL other dogs or otherwise doing well in the program, they may be expelled from participating in Doggie Daycare, day or overnight boarding, or other programs.

While we make every attempt to put compatible dogs together for socialization, dogs can be unpredictable, and a fight could occur. Dogs also play hard, and accidents may happen. Bite wounds, scuffs, or other injuries can result. In the event of an injury deemed by our staff to require treatment, we will try to reach an emergency contact; if an injury requires immediate attention, or if we are unable to reach an emergency contact, we will do what is deemed best for your pet. Anesthesia or sedation could be required to treat a wound. There is always some inherent risk when using anesthesia or sedation. During the performance of this treatment, unforeseen conditions could be revealed that necessitate further treatment, beyond the intended scope of the initial treatment plan.

I, the undersigned, understand that if my dog is found to have signs or symptoms of any communicable parasite, illness, or recent skunking, they will be unable to participate in any boarding or socialization programs until they are cleared by staff to do so, and if they are already under Cilley's care when this is discovered, they may need to be picked up earlier than originally scheduled if it is deemed that their condition may endanger other animals at the clinic.

I agree to the above requirements, policies, and procedures. I understand that I will be liable for the costs of any treatment rendered. I will not hold Cilley Veterinary Clinic responsible in the event of escape, illness, injury or death. I sign below indicating that I have read, understand, accept, and agree to the terms of this form.
